A Lost Knowledge

The Massassi temples on Yavin are steeped with history and strong with the force. Therefore, those interested in the balance of the galaxy keep a close eye on any happenings there. When a historian recently claimed he found ancient holocrons dating back thousands of years to ancient Sith Lords, you were immediately intrigued. He said that what he found was all that was there, but you believe there must be more. Moreover, there are other parties that have taken notice; you have to be sure that you and your team are the first to reach the ruins.

B Leave No Evidence

A recent excavation of a ruined Massassi temple has turned up several important artifacts. These are rumored to hold extremely powerful secrets about the Force, and you cannot afford for these to fall into the hands of your enemies. Whatever you cannot secure for yourself must be destroyed.

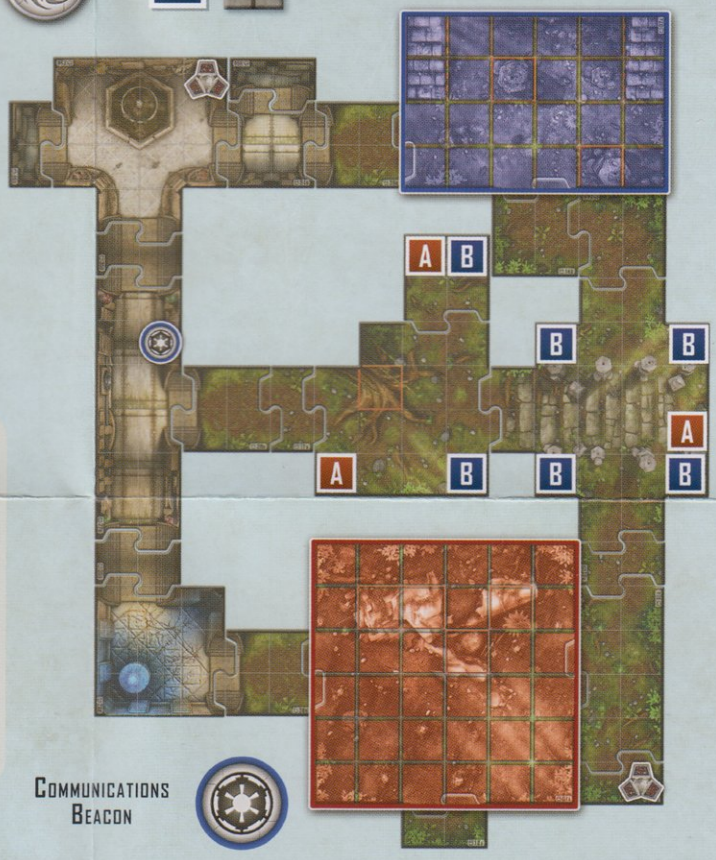

You fly to Yavin to recover these artifacts personally. You hope that you won't encounter much resistance, but you made sure to call in bomber support to provide cover while you're on the ground, just in case extreme measures are required.
